HUGHES NATIONAL COLLEGE LEAGUE

At the end of its first week of the active enrolling of college alumni to work for the election of Governor Hughes, the Hughes National College League announces that it has enrollments from every state in the union, from every educational institution to the graduates of which letters were sent, and even from some not on the list circularized.

"The results of our first week of active enrolling have been most gratifying," National Campaign Manager George Brokaw Compton said: "At the present average of over 5,000 a day the total enrollments will exceed the most sanguine expectations of any of us. Many of them come from the south and the west. The largest proportion of our members give their usual political affiliation as Republican, but we have a healthy percentage of Progressives, Democrats and Independents, in the order named.

"Branches have been and are being established in all states and most of the large cities. A great many of our members write to us when they enroll, and from the indications contained in this nationwide correspondence I should say that the college men in this country have passed judgment on Mr. Wilson's errors and that Governor Hughes has won their confidence and votes."

THE TRUTH—FROM A SOUTHERN DEMOCRAT

As to Mr. Wilson Atlantic City speech—little good will this eleventh hour conversion do him with intelligent women. He has let his day of grace go by. He had a chance this winter to "fight with us," had he so desired, but instead he fought against us.

Mr. Wilson could have forced through the Federal suffrage amendment had he so desired. He is not for it, and no amount of fair promises on the eve of a national election will have any effect on a woman who does any thinking.

Neither he nor his party favors woman suffrage. The record shows that only 30 per cent of the Democrats in Congress were for it, while 60 per cent of the Republicans favored it.

The only hope the women have of the adoption of the Anthony amendment is through the election of Mr. Hughes and a Republican Congress. Being a southern Democrat, I dislike to say this, but I feel that it is only too true.—Mary Gertrude Fendall, Maryland.

WHY NOT EXCHANGE?

Carranza isn't a candidate for President of the United States but he did more for American preparedness in three weeks than Woodrow Wilson did in three years.

Woodrow Wilson isn't President of Mexico, but you might suppose he was from his solicitude for the "pitiful women and children" of that country in contrast with his indifference to the fate of American women and children there.

THE RAILROAD INDEX

In the 16 years of Republican rule, from McKinley to Taft, there were 27,221 miles of railroads that went into the hands of the receiver. During the three and a half years of Woodrow Wilson rule and ruin, there were 34,385 miles, not counting the B. & M. R. R. which recently went into a receivership.

NEW YORK LETTER

(From Our Regular Correspondent)

Who Will You Trust?—Senator Root in his great speech in this city, after declaring there was a general agreement that after the war America will be confronted by tariff barriers in every now belligerent country, said: "What are we going to do then? We must do something. We must protect ourselves or we shall become the dumping ground of the world and our workmen will beg in the streets. Even the Democrats have seen that something must be done, for they have provided a tariff board to ascertain and report the true facts to which a tariff law is to be applied. Now we all understand that if the country wants a tariff for revenue only they may put the making of it in the hands of the Democratic party. But can any sane man contemplate that party making a protective tariff? In the first place, they can't do it honestly. They don't believe in it. They were born and bred in a different faith."

Wilson Wins—President Wilson has won his personally conducted election—not in the United States but in Nicaragua. Emiliano Chamorro, Mr. Wilson's choice, was elected by a light vote. The polling places were policed by armed American marines and the supporters of Drias, the Liberal candidate, were afraid to approach the polls. This is the official information which has come to Washington through diplomatic channels, and it has been confirmed by Rear Admiral Caperton, in command of the American squadron designated to insure Chamorro's election. Admiral Caperton says, "Our position is that the election should be honestly and openly conducted and the action of those who refrained from voting was unjustifiable." The foolish Nicaraguans, knowing that President Wilson had chosen their candidate for President and had sent the armed forces of the United States to supervise the election, were afraid to vote. They actually feared Woodrow Wilson's passionate "enthusiasm for liberty."

Cajoling Carranza—Secretary Lane indignantly denies that he has made any demands on the Mexican delegates to the Atlantic City conference to reimburse the Americans who have been robbed of their all in Mexico. And simultaneously, representatives of the Administration in Washington deny that Villa's increasing strength and the shooting of Americans by Carranza soldiers has led to a determination on the part of the Administration to keep Pershing's force in Mexico. The Mexican delegates reiterate in the plainest terms they can command that the conference was convened for no other purpose than to provide for the withdrawal of American troops from Mexican territory, and assert that all the talk of the American delegates about claims against the Carranza government, the internal affairs of Mexico etc., is simply "bunk" put out for its cred.

political effect in this country and wholly unwarranted by the facts. But even this bunk must be curtailed or Carranza will call off the conference, and if he does that it is feared his action will be accompanied by an insulting message to Mr. Wilson.

Compulsory Service—Evidence increases that the railways will endeavor to procure legislation whereby Congress will continue to fix the wages of railway trainmen and will also fix the hours of labor and make it a misdemeanor for trainmen to quit work without ample and due notice to their employers. Another outgrowth of the Adamson bill will be an effort to have a minimum day of eight hours and a single time basis of compensation fixed by Congress, abolishing the old mileage. Under present conditions a trainman who makes more than the agreed limit of speed over his division has done his days work and can quit when his run of one hundred miles, for instance, in three or four hours. Under a single time basis he could be assigned to other work for the remainder of the eight hours or whatever other day was decreed by Congress.

The Cost of Living—"The high cost of living is a serious problem in every American home. We charge that excessive prices result, in a large measure, from the high tariff laws enacted and maintained by the Republican party, and from trusts and commercial conspiracies fostered and encouraged by such laws, and we assert that no substantial relief can be secured for the people without import duties on the necessities of life are materially reduced." Democratic Platform of 1912. The tariff on the necessities of life has been radically reduced, reduced so much all along the line that it has been necessary to devise all sorts of new and onerous special taxes—but the cost of living has not been reduced. It is steadily increasing. This week one of the most extensive restaurants in New York, an institution which has more than a hundred branches in this city and branches in many other cities, restaurants where the wealthy never eat, but which feed hundreds of thousands of clerks and working girls daily, has been obliged to put up its prices. All egg orders, pies and coffee have been increased 5 cents, and genuine suffering will result. This means, not that the customers of these restaurants will pay more for their meals. They haven't got it to pay. It means that they will eat less, despite the fact that many of them are under-nourished daily. On every side the cost of living is increasing by leaps and bounds and many who had gained increased wages as a result of the European war and believed they had attained some measure of prosperity, now find the increased pay insufficient to offset the increased cost of living; that they are even poorer than before.

There is much talk about compulsory military service, from those who have reached the exempt age.

Proclamation is the thief of time—and the plunder can not be recovered.

FINNEGAN'S PHILOSOPHY BALAAM.

"Well do I mind the story," said Finnegan. "Balaam was a highbrow that knowed less than his Jackass. He took an office to curse the people. The Jackass saved them. 'Tis all in Number Twenty-two. Och, hone! 'Tis different these times. The Jackass knew better till Balaam tamed him. 'Lave me ride ye, says Balaam, 'an' I'll make ye the biggest Ass in the world.'"

"Great," says the Ass; 'what d'ye feed?"

"Pork," says Balaam.
"Me savior," says the Ass.
"So Balaam mounts. But soon the Jack balks."

"Phwat is it?" says Balaam.
"Snakes," says the Ass; 'Ut looks like the jawbone uv me mother.'"

"G'wan," says Balaam, hittin' the Ass a clip, 'tis me furren' polley; he says."

"Phwat's ut for?" axes the Ass.
"Ut defends the nashun," says Balaam."

"How?" says the Ass.
"Faith," says Balaam, 'ut takes a bigger Ass than you to know that. Lave it to Brine," says Balaam to the Ass; 'an' the Jack walks on meditation'."

"Hee, haw," says the Ass, balkin' an' kickin'."

"What now?" says Balaam.
"Divil a Jackass ever seen the like," says the Ass. 'Ut could be a frog, says he, 'for ut stands up in front, and sits down behind; an' 'tis mostly mouth," says the Ass. 'Ut has white feathers," says the Jack, 'wid yaller streaks, that changes, he says, 'to Very Crooz Red, or Nigary Blue, an' now they're Carrysall Yaller again,' says he. 'Hivins, have I been drinkin'?" screams the Ass to Balaam."

"Saints be praised," says Balaam. 'Me Watchful Waitin' can still change its mind,' he says. 'G'wan, where glory waits,' he says. 'G'wan, in the service uv Mankind,' says Balaam to the Ass, touchin' him up. An' the Ass shuffles ahead, wavin' his ears in admiration."

"Hee-haw! Hee-haw!" says the Jack, rearin' up wid his eyes bulgin'."

"Phwat's grippin' ye now?" says Balaam, impashunt like."

"I dunno," says the Ass. 'Ut looks like the Flyin' Dutchman with a Socialist Crew," he says."

"'Tis me Ship Bill," says Balaam. 'Side step to the right,' he says; 'side step to the left,' says he, wellin' him. 'Back up,' says Balaam, near wrenchin' off the Jack's jaw."

"Now forward for the Mercant Marine an' fifty mullun pork," says Balaam wid a shower uv blows; an' the Ass goes on threunblin'."

"Wah-hee! Wah-hee! Wah-hee!" says the Jack, shyn' to me near threunblin'."

"I'll learn ye to shy at me Naval Bill," says Balaam, lar-rupin' the baste so he cud scarce stand."

"Ye can't pass ut widout wearin' Republican cloathes," says the Jack in a course whisper."

"Ye Ass," says Balaam. 'Don't ye know that anny cloes is better nor nakedness? G'wan," says Balaam, in tones uv thunder. So the poor baste lopes on, limpin' wid pain."

"I've not time to tell ye all the adventures they had, but they kep' on over rough roads, now an' then crossin' a ditch on a wan term plank, which made even Balaam unaisy."

Ivry time the Jack kicked, he got short rations an' a wallop. So when the Journey was near over, the poor baste was all in, and far too proud to fight. Any Jack-Ass can be that when he's kicked."

"Wan stormy night, the Jack blooms into a harmony like a Dimycrat Tariff Hymn played on a gaspide wid the feet."

"Phwat ails ye now?" calls Balaam, clubbin' him wid both hands."

"Nivver did I pass the like," yells the Ass, sweatin' and threunblin'." 'Ut says ut's an eight hour law. Oh, phwat is ut?' screams the Ass to Balaam, feebly waggin' his ears."

"I dinno phwat ut is meself," says Balaam, 'but I know phwat ut's got,' Balaam says."

"Phwat?" axes the poor Ass.
"Five hundther thousand votes," says Balaam, wid a pious air. 'G'wan, ye big Ass, an' doant ye argue wid an Idealist,' says Balaam to the Ass."

"We can't pass ut in the dark," pleads the Ass. 'Lave us wait for light,' moans the Ass, weepin'."

"Nix," says Balaam. 'There's a hot time comin' an' the votes'll spile. Do ye thirst for sixteen more years in the wilderness? Giddap,' says he, 'purgin' y'er heart,' says Balaam, 'iv ivry thought that's selfish,' says Balaam, 'or personal,' chants Balaam to the poor Ass ticklin' the Jack's slats wid a couplin' pin."

"By this time the Ass was so wore out wid his arduous labors, that he knew no more than Balaam himself. So, wid one despairin' cry, he dropped his ears, as he an' his master stumbled forward into the dark."

An avaricious heart is like a snake trying to swallow an elephant."

SURRENDER TO FORCE WOULD TEND TO DISASTER.

"That kind of virus in our life—surrender to force—would bring us no end of disaster. If we let capitalists or workingmen, any interest, learn that the way to get what is wanted is by applying pressure and if we continue in that course for a few years, democracy will be a failure, and we might as well give up our form of government."

WOMEN'S PLACE IN WORLD

(Pittsburg Press)

"Women's place is the home" is a doctrine little heard. The war has brought that about. But United States census figures, collected before the war was dreamed of, shows that we have or had these women workers in the United States: 476 fisherwomen, 40 wood-choppers, 45 quarry workers, 15 stone masonesses, 92 electricians, 10 stationary engineers, 24 coppermiths, 73 draywomen, 6 stable hands, 5 white-washers, 2 mining engineers, 5 stone-cutters, 44 longshore women, 43 watchwomen, 250 barkeepers, 5 auctioneers, 41 lumber women, 39 mine operators, 849 oman contractors, 33 carpenters, 93 toolmakers, 117 molders, 3 civil engineers, 8 plasterers, 4 meat dressers, 27 meat cutters, 4 lumber camp bosses, 52 railway flagwomen, 150 deliver women, 73 potters, 873 undertakers.

Furthermore, about every woman in four is a wage-earner in some capacity. It looks to us as if women's place had been wider than the home for quite some time.

THE FEAST OF TABERNACLES

The Jewish feast of Tabernacles or Succoth will commence on Wednesday evening, October 11, and will last for nine days. According to the Bible the feast lasted only seven days. In the course of time, however, the feast was lengthened to nine days; the last two being The English day of Solemn Assembly or the Feast of Conclusion, and the Day of the Rejoicing for the Law.

Succoth means booths, and the name owes its origin to the fact that on this feast many families build festive booths in which the holiday meals are served. In some cases plous people will spend all the days of the feast living in the booth in order to give literal fulfillment to the injunction: "In booths shall ye dwell seven days."

The frail booth built as a temporary dwelling, an imperfect shelter from the elements, is to remind man that he is constantly under the protection of the Almighty, just as the fathers of Israel were under His protection in the wilderness. "In order that your generations may know that I made the children of Israel dwell in booths, when I brought them up from the land of Egypt."

The sentiment of the feast is rooted deep in the ancient agricultural life of Israel. Succoth was one of the great pilgrimage festivals. The other two were Passover and the Feast of Weeks. East of these was at the harvest time of some particular crop. On these three occasions the people from all over the land of Canaan would journey to the Holy City and spend the festival there. This feast, Succoth, known also as the Feast of Ingathering was at the time of the gathering in of fruits. The booths therefore may be reminiscent of the booths erected by the busy harvesters as temporary dwellings in the field. The palm branches and the willows, the myrtle and citron still borne in procession around the synagogue on this feast also suggest this ancient harvest setting.

Succoth was the last of the three harvest festivals; and as it ushered in the winter season when rain was needed for next year's crop, a water service was held in the Temple; and to this day the prayers for the last day of Succoth include special prayers for rain, which are continued in the services until the time when the spring harvest comes again with the feast of Passover.

GET IN LINE! UNCLE SAMUEL NEEDS FIGHTERS

Washington, October 8.—Virtually a house-to-house campaign throughout the nation is being planned by the War Department to obtain the 100,000 regular army recruits it will be necessary to enlist annually hereafter in order to keep the army up to the strength authorized by Congress in the reorganization and appropriation bills.

The new plan contemplates establishing such agencies in every county seat. From these bases recruiting parties will be sent to comb the rural districts. Tables have been prepared to show recruiting who should be obtained in each county and the number of men of the recruiting service to be sent to each county will be determined by the population. Under the present strength of the recruiting service each member of that service must procure the enlistment of 100 men a year in order to make up the desired total.

The order says the number of men who enlist in the cavalry is greater proportionately than for other arms of the service. Officers are instructed to encourage applicants to enter the infantry or artillery instead. Authority is given under the law to enlist for service within continental United States only men who desire to take

CHILDREN'S KIDNEYS

No Maysville Mother Should Neglect the Little One's Health.

Oftentimes weak kidneys cause great annoyance and embarrassment to children. Inability to control the kidney secretions, at night or while at play, is attributed to carelessness and too frequently the child is punished. Parents having children troubled with kidney weakness would do well to treat the kidneys with a tested and proven kidney remedy. If there is pain in the back, discolored urine, irregular urination, headaches, dizzy spells or a tired, worn-out feeling, try Doan's Kidney Pills at once. This remedy has been used in kidney troubles for over 50 years and has been recommended by thousands. Convincing proof of merit in the following statement. It's from a resident of this locality.

Mrs. B. M. French, E. Second St., Augusta, Ky., says: "Measles left my children with weak kidneys. The kidney secretions were too frequent in passage and couldn't be controlled at night. Most everything was tried, but without benefit. Doan's Kidney Pills, however, gave the children quick relief."

A SECOND STATEMENT.
OVER THREE YEARS LATER, Mrs. French said: "I am pleased to confirm my former endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills."

SHIP IN FLAMES; 50 PASSENGERS AND CREW SAVED

Old Point Comfort, Va., October 8.—Radio messages received here tonight from the coast guard cutter Onondaga said two tugs are towing the burning Ward Line steamer Antilla to Hampton Roads and that the eighty passengers and crew, which took to the small boats 120 miles off Cape Henry last night, are aboard the cutter, which is conveying the tow.

The message also asked that another tug be sent out to assist in fighting the fire in the Antilla's cargo of lumber and sugar. The cutter's Captain reported that he thought the flames could be brought under control if help were sent.

The Onondaga reported the Antilla at 8:30 o'clock this morning, in response to radio distress signals sent out by the liner early last night. The passengers and crew in small boats were picked up and transferred to the cutter. No word came from the Onondaga as to whether any were injured in the transfer, but, with a smooth sea running, marine men here believed the Antilla's company had been taken aboard without accident.

PRESIDENT AND LANSING TO GO OVER SITUATION

Long Branch, N. J., October 9.—Secretary Lansing, it was announced tonight, will come here tomorrow for a conference with President Wilson concerning German submarine raids off the Atlantic coast. Mr. Lansing is expected to remain over night at the President's summer residence. The announcement that the Secretary of State would confer with the President confirms the impression gained here earlier in the day that the American Government considered the attacks on vessels off the American coast by a German submarine as fraught with grave possibilities. At the same time it was made clear that there is nothing in the reports so far received to show that international law or the earlier promises of Germany have been violated. Concern over the situation centered chiefly about the possibility of what might happen if the submarine attacks are continued. The position of the American Government and its determination to make a full investigation before acting were made clear.
